PREPARATION TIMING AND REVIEW

Date prepared: All known transactions up to 15 December 2021
Prepared by: Manager of Finance
Reviewed by: Chief Executive Officer

BASIS OF PREPARATION

REPORT PURPOSE

This report is prepared to meet the requirements of Local Government (Financial Management) Regulations 1996, Regulation 34 . Note: The statements and accompanying notes are prepared based on all transactions recorded at the time of preparation and may vary due to transactions being processed for the reporting period after the date of preparation.

BASIS OF ACCOUNTING

This statement comprises a special purpose financial report which has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards (as they apply to local governments and not-for-profit entities and to the extent they are not in-consistent with the Local Government Act 1995 and accompanying regulations), Australian Accounting Interpretations, other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board, the Local Government Act 1995 and accompanying regulations. Accounting policies which have been adopted in the preparation of this financial report have been consistently applied unless stated otherwise.

Except for cash flow and rate setting information, the report has been prepared on the accrual basis and is based on historical costs, modified, where applicable, by the measurement at fair value of selected non-current assets, financial assets and liabilities.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT REPORTING ENTITY

All Funds through which the Council controls resources to carry on its functions have been included in this statement. In the process of reporting on the local government as a single unit, all transactions and balances between those funds (for example, loans and transfers between Funds) have been eliminated. All monies held in the Trust Fund are excluded from the statement, but a separate statement of those monies appears at Note 11.

SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICES

GOODS AND SERVICES TAX

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of GST receivable or payable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO is included with receivables or payables in the statement of financial position. Cash flows are presented on a gross basis. The GST components of cash flows arising from investing or financing activities which are recoverable from, or payable to, the ATO are presented as operating cash flows.

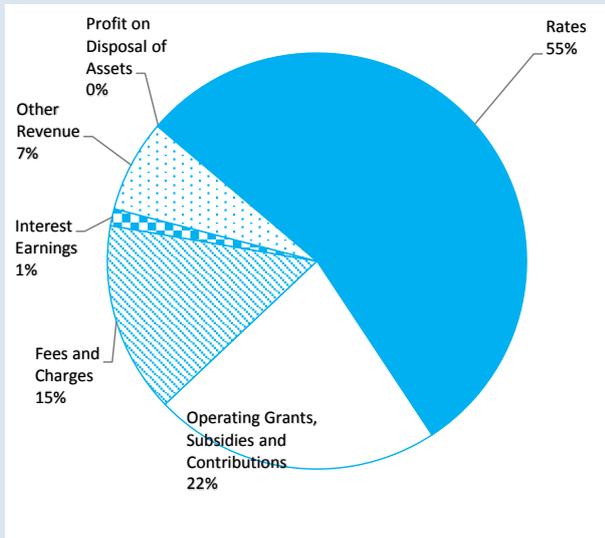

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

The preparation of a financial report in conformity with Australian Accounting Standards requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that effect the application of policies and reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and various other factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances; the results of which form the basis of making the judgements about carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

CURRENT AND NON-CURRENT CLASSIFICATION

In the determination of whether an asset or liability is current or non-current, consideration is given to the time when each asset or liability is expected to be settled. The asset or liability is classified as current if it is expected to be settled within the next 12 months, being the Council's operational cycle. In the case of liabilities where Council does not have the unconditional right to defer settlement beyond 12 months, such as vested long service leave, the liability is classified as current even if not expected to be settled within the next 12 months. Inventories held for trading are classified as current even if not expected to be realised in the next 12 months except for land held for resale where it is held as non current based on Council's intentions to release for sale.

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

The provisions for employee benefits relates to amounts expected to be paid for long service leave, annual leave, wages and salaries and are calculated as follows:

(i) Wages, Salaries, Annual Leave and Long Service Leave
(Short-term Benefits)

The provision for employees' benefits to wages, salaries, annual leave and long service leave expected to be settled within 12 months represents the amount the City has a present obligation to pay resulting from employees services provided to balance date. The provision has been calculated at nominal amounts based on remuneration rates the City expects to pay and includes related on-costs.

(ii) Annual Leave and Long Service Leave (Long-term Benefits)

The liability for long service leave is recognised in the provision for employee benefits and measured as the present value of expected future payments to be made in respect of services provided by employees up to the reporting date using the project unit credit method. Consideration is given to expected future wage and salary levels, experience of employee departures and periods of service. Expected future payments are discounted using market yields at the reporting date on national government bonds with terms to maturity and currency that match as closely as possible, the estimated future cash outflows. Where the City does not have the unconditional right to defer settlement beyond 12 months, the liability is recognised as a current liability.

PROVISIONS

Provisions are recognised when: The council has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events; it is more likely than not that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation; and the amount has been reliably estimated. Provisions are not recognised for future operating losses. Where there are a number of similar obligations, the likelihood that an outflow will be required in settlement is determined by considering the class of obligations as a whole. A provision is recognised even if the likelihood of an outflow with respect to any one of item included in the same class of obligations may be small.

INVENTORIES

Inventories are measured at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less the estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

All assets are initially recognised at cost. Cost is determined as the fair value of the assets given as consideration plus costs incidental to the acquisition. For assets acquired at no cost or for nominal consideration, cost is determined as fair value at the date of acquisition. The cost of non-current assets constructed by the local government includes the cost of all materials used in the construction, direct labour on the project and an appropriate proportion of variable and fixed overhead. Certain asset classes may be revalued on a regular basis such that the carrying values are not materially different from fair value. Assets carried at fair value are to be revalued with sufficient regularity to ensure the carrying amount does not differ materially from that determined using fair value at reporting date.

That Council:

1. Receive the Chief Executive Officer's report as presented.

Carried 6/0

BRIEF SUMMARY

The following item details activities within the CEO portfolio.

BACKGROUND/COMMENT

The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) is appointed by Council to manage the day-to-day affairs of the local government and to perform the functions of the office as defined by the Local Government Act 1995. In particular, the CEO is a contract role with agreed Key Performance Indicators (KPI's).

The CEO is currently referring to the Key Results Areas (KRA's) from the Strategic Community Plan in the absence of contracted KPI's and these are reproduced at the front of this Council Agenda for reference by the Community and Council. While legislation largely defines the functions and activities of the CEO, Council and the CEO will negotiate specific terms of the employment agreement to enable desirable organisational and community outcomes. That process has commenced.

The CEO assumes responsibility for all operational KRA's. An extract of section 5.41 from the Local Government Act 1995 detailing the functions of the CEO is at the foot of this report.

Key Meetings and Activities since 17 March 2023:

- 21 March: meeting with Mr Ray Hansen about Aboriginal culture;
- 21 March: meeting with Ms Carol Williams about Aboriginal employment and related;
- 22 March: meeting with Australian Electoral Commission about electoral enrolments;
- 24 March: CEO Connections Forum, an industry event in Perth, about local government reform (presentation by Hon John Carey MLA, Minister for Housing; Lands; Homelessness; Local Government); stage five Public Health Act and local health plans (presentation by Dr Andrew Robinson, WA Chief Medical Officer); introduction by new CEO of local government insurer Local Government Insurance Services (LGIS), James Sheridan; emergency services work health and safety (presentation by Matt Watson, Manager Health and Safety, Department of Fire and Emergency Services); presentation on directly elected Mayors by City of Bunbury CEO Mal Osborne and Town of Claremont CEO Liz Ledger;

- 28 March: Shire of Wagin Business Sundowner, followed by the Ordinary Meeting of Council;
- 30 March: meeting with ratepayer;
- 31 March: meeting with ratepayer.

In the course of business, the CEO dealt with various operational and strategic matters, including tenders, recruitment and human resources, information technology, medical centre relations, community and government relations.

Banking Inquiry:

A submission to the inquiry was made 31 March, which is attached to this item.

Local Laws: An invitation has been extended to interested members of the public to comment on a proposed new local law for Bush Fire Brigades. The draft has also been shared with brigades for their consideration and the proposed local law can be viewed at the shire's official website. The mandatory 42-day consultation period closes 24 April and Council will then consider the matter.

Technical considerations related to other local laws means they will be reviewed. This presents an opportunity to consider whether any new laws need to be introduced, current laws modified or any law be withdrawn (timing to be confirmed).

Strategic:

The following matters are underway will be considered by October 2023:

- CEO Key Performance Indicators and Council Key Result Areas (next quarter);
- 2022 / 23 Audit (May 2023 – late 2023);
- March Review and 2023 / 24 financial budget;
- Disaster Recovery Plan for Information Technology (commenced but completion will be April / May 2023);
- Refresh of the Strategic Community Plan (Council Plan), commenced but seeking council adoption in June 2023;
- Renewal (or tender) for waste services June 2023;
- A revised Record Keeping Plan is due this year and work is underway;
- Corporate Business Plan 2023 / 24 and forward planning, including measures of the 2023 / 24 budget (Council adoption in July / August 2023);
- Asset Management Plan (July / August 2023);
- Tender for Information Technology Management Support Services (August 2023);
- Review of local laws (to be confirmed).

The CEO has commenced preparation of a risk management report for Council which will inform discussion on some of the above matters.

The theme for the 2022 / 23 Annual Report is Possibilities. Members of the public will be invited to submit images for use in the report.

Your Reference: Inquiry into Bank Closures in Regional Australia

31 March 2023

Dear Senator and Committee Members,

Submission to the Inquiry: Bank Closures in Regional Australia

I respectfully submit the following on behalf of the Shire and community of Wagin, Western Australia.

A community's economic well-being is reliant on access to material economic resources and control over that access. The closure of bank branches without meaningful and reliable alternatives may create costly disruption that alters the local social and economic fabric.

The Shire of Wagin has consulted its community and provides the following for the consideration of the Committee.

Summary:

With reference to:

1. Location and regional significance.

The Shire of Wagin is located on the southern Wheatbelt, approximately 228 km's southeast of Perth, equidistant between Perth and Albany. The district has an area of 1,946 km² and a census population of 1,761 (disputed).

The district of Wagin has two main population centres: the town of Wagin (population 1,311) and the locality of Piesseville (population 49). The town of Wagin has several smaller communities within 50 km's, none of which has a banking facility.

This means the town of Wagin with its single bank branch and single licensed post office is of regional significance for the provision of in-person financial services.

2. Historical Banking Services

- a. Australia Post converted the local post office to a licensed post office (franchised arrangement) in 1998; Australia Post has always offered Commonwealth Bank services, by virtue of mutual connections to the government of the Commonwealth of Australia, firstly as a government operated trading entity and then as a Government Business Enterprise.
- b. With the advent of 'Electronic Counter Services' (ECS) and EFTPOS, Australia Post expanded banking services to include other financial institutions. Banking services are now branded Bank@Post and the representation and breadth of services available has varied in intervening years but currently extends to most major and lower tier financial institutions. It should be noted that most of the 80 bank and credit unions represented have never or would never have operated in rural or regional areas and all have limitations in the level of service availability through Bank@Post.
- c. The Commonwealth Bank (CBA); Westpac; and National Australia Bank(NAB) have all closed physical branches in Wagin in recent history.
- d. Bankwest has the last open bank branch in Wagin and is operating on limited hours with custom being progressively diverted to Australia Post (with limited services) or other communities (also limited hours and 50 km's plus drive).
- e. Banks have a significant social licence to operate and dominate within the Australian economy; this social licence was manifest in the Federal Government's Four Pillars policy and the deposit guarantee. This social licence is dependent on demonstrated corporate responsibility and continued integration with the broader Australian society – not for the sole benefit of shareholders and not just some communities.
- f. Pity the person who moved to town as a ANZ customer – there was no branch. He opened an account with Westpac which closed. He is now a Bankwest customer and they only open a few days per week. Now he is told his business is so valuable and his relationship so meaningful they want him to go to Australia Post.

3. Reason for closures.

Banks have indicated their reason for closures is the reduced volume in personal transactions at branches (a reduction of approximately one-third in five years), with a corresponding increase in adoption of digital banking solutions. The utilisation of non-cash EFTPOS; PayWave; online banking; in-app banking; transactions via contact centre, means that presenting at a branch is neither necessary or convenient in many cases. This is compounded by the development of non-bank financial services such as PayPal or ApplePay, as well as delayed payment methods such as AfterPay.

The development of digital banking and alternative financial services has been facilitated by positive development in telecommunications; the improvement to the NBN and mobile network; and the take-up of internet as a lifestyle and productivity enabler by rural and regional communities.

Population drift will have some degree of relevance but can be negated by productivity efficiencies and the employment of technology. However, population drift does not align with the decline in transactions volumes. The population of Wagin has largely been stable in the last five years and the transaction decline referred to by the banking community has no linear relationship to population. What can be observed is the ageing of the population and a skewed demography with marginally less working age persons and a greater number on or beyond retirement age.

This latter group has less mobility, are less technologically agile, are more reliant on fixed incomes and employ a proportionally greater use of cash.

4. The economic and welfare impacts of bank closures on customers and regional communities.
 - a. Bank branches provide local visible employment with established brands that are networked. This has several effects:
 - Branded economic network facilitating regional commerce and trade; cross-pollination of economic knowledge; businesses are now self-reliant with no local presence and reduced access to business advice; this is an economic constraint.
 - (Usually) the import of a professional person(s) with high level skills and professional standing to the community as branch management; this person usually represented the bank in the community and has historically been a leader, as an auditor, board and committee member, member of school leadership and participant in the business community; the skills level in the community is reduced and the economic potential of business and the community is impacted; this is an economic constraint.
 - (Often) branch management would become part of the community, marrying and having a family; the withdrawal of the banking community has its own social and population impact with flow on for sports, education and connectedness. This is a social and economic constraint.
 - Local bank branches are significant employers in smaller communities; the withdrawal of bank branches reduces primary and secondary employment opportunities, reducing the development of transferrable skills and creating constraints for business initiation and growth. This is an economic constraint.
 - The reduced number of customer facing transactions and local employment contributes to reduced social connectedness.

- b. Socially marginalised individuals will have reduced access to banking services.
- Persons who are homeless or transient lose local advocacy in financial services; it is likely that access to technology will reduce access to banking services and an absence of relationship banking could mean individuals are further economically marginalised.
 - Digital banking may attract fees; an inability to transact by cash may add to the price of goods and services. While making banking more profitable, it may make some goods and services more marginal for some purchasers. It may suppress the purchasing of quality goods and services of all kinds due to avoidance of additional fees.
- c. The effect of distance is exaggerated by reduced banking presence.
- Bank branch closures are widespread; this means individuals, businesses and entities have to navigate local part-time hours as well as misaligned service availability in other communities. In the case of business or loan business, this cannot be transacted at Australia Post and the divestment of banks in products does mean enforced travel to transact. An example of this is Bankwest's integration into CBA where all business customers are transferred to CBA with no local CBA presence. In the case of Wagin, business customers of the part-time Bankwest branch are diverted to CBA's branch at Narrogin (50km's north of Wagin) which is also operating on part-time hours. The additional travel, even to change a PIN or sign a document, increases the cost of transaction manifestly. This is an economic impact.
 - Rural and regional Australia already has higher levels of suicide; reduced access to health services; and lower rates of consumption in fruit and vegetables. It is possible individuals cannot afford to make 100 kms journeys to conduct banking or other transactions. When this economic rational decision is made, is the prospect of improved well-being being further eroded?
- d. Diversion of economic activity to other communities.
- Enforced transfer of business between bank brands (Bankwest to CBA) and communities (Wagin to Narrogin) may reduce costs to the bank at the customer level and / or at the business unit level; however, these costs do not evaporate but are transferred to the customer. Just as printing a statement is now on-demand at home, the 15 cents a page plus postage for the bank has translated to the customer who now needs a printer, ink, time, etc.
 - When any local customer has to transact in another community it decreases local expenditures and increases external expenditures. At a minimum this will may be fuel and refreshments; but increased traffic (elsewhere) means convenience will win out and this will lead to growth in that community and this will mean groceries and services (etc.) purchased elsewhere. If state policy has enforced the transport of your child to another place and banks enforce your economic behaviours, it is much more likely you will change your social practices and possibly move your business; move your club allegiances; move your home. Does this sound like population drift?

5. Access to cash.

- a. Disproportionate effect on disadvantaged segments of the community. The constraints on the circular flow of money may be consequential to bank branch closure but could equally be strategic to accelerating the pathways to digital banking.
 - The homeless; aboriginal persons (some who are transient); and those on fixed incomes (particularly pensioners) have an increased propensity to make cash transactions; a reduced ability to access cash will disadvantage such persons. Wagin has a growing proportion of aged demographics and many of these persons do not have access to advanced technologies or transport.
- b. Cash based business is disproportionately affected.
 - Small scale cash-based business is disproportionately affected. Examples include the historical village and local cinema (yes, Wagin has one of those too).
- c. There are limited options to access (or dispose of) cash.
 - Australia Post has strict limits on cash held at one time. This is to enhance local security but does limit the ability of individuals, business and visitors to access cash.
 - Australia Post trading hours are limited and do not align with wider trading hours. This is an issue for visitors and the circular flow of money.
 - Private ATM's where extant are unreliable; have an elevated fee structure; and limit the amount of cash accessible. These units are also limited to trading hours of the host business which means limitations to visitors and others. This impacts the circular flow of money.
- d. Businesses have increased the amount of cash on-hand in response to reduced access to cash.
 - Australia Post cannot and will not supply coin; this means cash flow businesses have increased cash holdings to maintain business; this has increased their risk profile with impacts for insurance and security.
 - Where businesses have insufficient cash on hand (due to restricted bank trading hours, they are forced to refuse cash and only use digital payment.
- e. Unseen social impacts of lower access to cash.
 - School canteens and fund raisers are less viable.
 - Church collections may be suppressed.
 - Donations. The Wagin Care and Share is a cash-based volunteer driven charity. Without a functional bank in town, it is highly likely this much needed and loved local charity will close.

6. Solutions and other matters.

a. Economy and Taxation.

It is recognised that digital banking offers convenience and control to customers. In many respects it is a responsive medium for many individuals and businesses. When viewing an economy at the national or state level, digital banking and other disruptive practices and technologies look and sound like change – when viewed at the local level the effect is much more chaotic.

Rural and regional centres necessarily manage unpredictable economic climates – often subject to chaotic weather and the vagaries of international trade. Not all risk can be made predictable. However, there are benefits to the wider Australia economy of strengthening local economies in rural and regional Australia.

To achieve this would require an integrated approach to the rural and regional economy and not view banking in isolation.

A likely focus should include the greater cost to doing business in regional areas (whether transport, cost of attracting and retaining labour, access to skills, access to communications, etc) as this suppresses economic activity and innovation.

An option in addressing this could include the positive leveraging of taxation; for example, broadening the application of zone rebates while increasing the amount in zone rebates.

Other initiatives could include:

- Creating regional income tax-free thresholds;
- Creating regional GST-free zones;
- Creating a National Regional Adjustment Fund to facilitate transition in disruptive economic environments;
- Creating a National Regional Entrepreneurial Programme, partnering academia and business;
- Making changes to Bank Licences to incorporate community and social obligations (this could be associated with Reserve Bank interest rates and / or bond products);
- Community grants offered by the banking sector to support regional initiatives to increase economic resilience;
- Implementation of a new category of Financial Assistance Grant to local governments to support volunteer entities and small businesses in developing local community and business solutions.

Banks could also implement mobile banking facilities in partnership with Australia Post to ensure full-service coverage of affected communities.

The people of rural and regional Australia are not complainers and they are resilient. However, there is an elevated risk that the absence of banking services will exaggerate the competitive advantage of metropolitan Australia, already enjoyed in real estate, education, technology, commerce and access to markets. This will translate to increased wealth and further economic drift to the detriment of rural and regional communities. In time, this will damage the ability of Australia to adeptly manage the challenges of the future as we all navigate a more disruptive, complex and unpredictable international environment.

In closing, I encourage the Committee to consider the full range of Parliament's powers, particularly as provided by the Australian Constitution through s. 51 (i) (trade and commerce) and s. 51 (ii) (taxation). Social licence is an insufficient lever without appropriate regulation.

My thanks to the Committee for their consideration. Please make contact should you want expansion on any part of this submission.

March has been a very unusual month and the last two weeks saw very low numbers of recreational swimmers attending which is understandable considering the drop in weather and water temperature. However, numbers for March were good due to swimming lesson running later than usual for this year with a total through being 1,716 patrons, in comparison to 667 for March 2022.

Behaviour has improved with only two children receiving a ban for bad behaviour at the beginning of March.
